Tanween: “an”, “in”, “un”

When a vowel is written twice at the end of a word, we add an “n” that isn’t written: this is tanween.

When a vowel is written twice at the end of a word, we add an “n” that isn't written: this is tanween.

Learn

Next lesson

See also

Shadda: the doubled letter

Previous

Test: vowels and marks (20 questions)

The Arabic alphabet: all 28 letters

Surah Al-Ikhlas: Arabic text and audio